BRIDGE GAP BETWEEN PAINTING & PHOTOGRAPHY

Narendu Ghosh, a trailblazing figure in the world of Indian photography, has embarked on a pioneering journey to bridge the distinct genres of painting and photography. With a vision that surpasses the boundaries of conventional art forms, Ghosh has emerged as a true innovator, defying the confines of artistic norms. In an era where photography and painting have long stood as separate entities, Ghosh has fearlessly ventured into uncharted territory by fusing these two artistic expressions. Through his unique approach, he successfully harmonizes the elements of composition, color, and narrative that traditionally define painting, with the technical precision and immediacy inherent in photography.

Narendra Ghosh has been awarded the FIAP BRONZE MEDAL by THE INTERNATIONAL FEDERATION OF PHOTOGRAPHIC ART (FIAP) WORLD CUP-2019 THIRD IN ACROSS THE GLOBE, for this. By undertaking this daring endeavor, Ghosh not only challenges the status quo but also expands the horizons of the creative realm. His endeavors showcase a captivating blend of creativity and skilled craftsmanship, resulting in visually stunning work that captivates viewers and elicits profound emotions.

2. Photo-Story: When did you commence your pursuit of photography and what led to your profound passion for this art form?

Narendu Ghosh: Since my childhood, I have had a keen interest in painting. However, after completing class 12th in 1996, my interest shifted towards photography.

3. Photo-Story: What problems did you face in the initial stages of photography?

Narendu Ghosh: Explaining the situation might prove challenging as I did not possess a digital camera at that time. Instead, I owned an analog camera called Konica 10x. I would purchase black and white film, use it to take photographs, and then develop them in my own homemade darkroom. This process continued until I joined the photography association, dum dum [PAD], in the year 2002.

7. Photo-Story: What message would you like to give to the youth working in the field of photography?

Narendu Ghosh: Dear aspiring young photographers, I hope this message finds you inspired and motivated in your pursuit of excellence in the field of photography. As someone who has observed the power of photography to capture moments, evoke emotions, and communicate stories, I would like to offer you some valuable advice on your journey.

First and foremost, I want to emphasize the importance of hard work. In any creative field, success does not come effortlessly. It requires a dedication to refining your skills, pushing your boundaries, and continuously learning. Be willing to invest the time and effort necessary to hone your craft. Seek opportunities to practice and experiment with different techniques, subjects, and styles. Through persistence and perseverance, you will undoubtedly witness substantial growth in your abilities.

In conclusion, my message to you is simple yet powerful: work hard and love photography. Commit yourself to continuous growth, immerse yourself in the beauty of the craft, and let your passion shine through your images. The journey may be long, but the rewards will be immeasurable. Believe in yourself, stay true to your vision, and keep capturing the moments that define our world.
